KNIGHTING OF THE BADGER HUNTER

Hundchester, Axony.

In the north of Eutheria, many Axons still hold out against the tyrannical Aquitaran Empire in the costal areas of Agincourt. These soldiers have fought tirelessly to combat the Emperor's forces and reclaim their lands. In recent years, one member of the underground has proven his worth both to the now free peoples of Agincourt and to fighting the Commonwealth's enemies. So let it be known, that Dachs the Badger Hunter, citizen of Letzburg, will be knighted as one of the Protector's Own as Sir Daniel Dachs on January 20th, 7pm at Hundchester Cathedral. Throughout the procession before and during the ceremony, his Arms and Armor will be on display within the Cathedral. All citizens are invited to attend.

MORE UNDESIRABLES SLAIN ON THE WEST END

Wilder, Axony.

Two more corpses turned up in the back alleys of the Whitetemple district of Wilder this week, bringing the total count for the last 3 years to 12 victims. Chief Investigator Fred Abalone of the original Whitetemple Murder Spree has stated that these new deaths are the work of a copycat and not the work of the original killer. Lord Witney Gull was executed after using the killings to call for the return of the "Uncrowned King" ten years ago. The Ashdown Bandits even decried his actions before his capture by the Commonwealth. Sidney Page, the famous private detective, having preformed his own investigation, claims to be on the heels of the perpetrator, and expects to have him captured or dead by month's end.

KING'S DAY ATTACK FOILED BY THE LADY-PROTECTOR HERSELF!

Wilder, Axony.

On January 1st, As parliament deliberated over granting additional powers to the Lady-Protector during the current war with the Zabaran tribals, an assassin, hired by the Commonwealth's enemies, attempted to assassinate the Ministers in their private session. Lady-Protector Eileen Grey, having arrived in time to see the out-of-place perpetrator enter the Parliament Building, attacked and subdued the assassin, whose name has not been released. Because of this event, Lady Grey has declared three of the Ministers, appointed by the previous Lord-Protector, as incompetent and removed from their stations. Sir Timothy Pegg has since been appointed to the Ministry of War and Soldiery and Sir Michael Frost to the Ministry of Production and Consumers. The Ministry of Diplomacy and Loyalty has yet to be helmed by a new appointee, but a choice is expected to be made by our leader within a day or two.

SOUTH SEA AXONS RETURN HOME

Anatomy Bay, Austerlind.

Despite revived success in the colonization of Bharat over the last century, Axon soldiers are leaving the subcontinent for Austerlind and Axony. The South Sea Axon Holdings Company began transporting soldiers and supplies out of the coastal colonies last month after the local civilization began falling apart from their own incompetence, leaving little workforce to extract salt, gold or other natural resources. Reports given to stockholders show a net profit from product gained over the military costs to hold the coastal regions. An announcement given by Baron Kipling provided a timetable for transporting Axon citizens and forces from the mainland. This announcement was given in response to recent combat with a new Bharatan Warlord rising in the north of the subcontinent. Despite fears by the indigenous peoples of Austerlind that Axon support will also be removed from the South Seas, Baron Kipling assured his stockholders that too much has been invested in Anatomy Bay and the surrounding colonies to risk abandoning them to any bloodthirsty Warlords.

FEDERATED STATES NOT IMPRESSED WITH IMPRESSMENT

Jackson D.V., Federated States of Vespuccia.

After several weeks of rioting and brawling, the Congress of the FSV has declared war upon the Commonwealth of Axony. Despite finding employment for many of their unemployed citizens in nearby colonies, the FSV has demanded the end of the impressment of Vespuccians into service of the Commonwealth Navy. Early reports have arrived from the Dominion colonies of FSV attacks on forts along the southern border. The North Axon Dominion Police, the foremost security force on the continent, has been called into action to repel the rabble.
